

Handwritten text in Persian script, likely a historical or administrative document. The text is arranged in several lines across the page, with some words written in red ink (rubrication). The script is a cursive style, possibly Nasta'liq or Shikasta. The text appears to be a record of events or a list of items, with some lines starting with 'در روز...' (On the day of...). There are some large, stylized characters or initials interspersed within the text.

Handwritten text in Persian script, continuing from the left page. The text is arranged in several lines across the page, with some words written in red ink. The script is a cursive style. The text appears to be a record of events or a list of items, with some lines starting with 'در روز...' (On the day of...). There are some large, stylized characters or initials interspersed within the text.